UNITED STATES PATENT OFFICE.

WILLIAM H. DEWAR, OF NEW YORK, N. Y.

IMPROVEMENT IN PLUMBERS' GRAPPLES.

Specification forming part of Letters Patent No. 179,533, dated July 4, 1876; application filed June 6, 1876.

To all whom it may concern:

Be it known that I, WILLIAM H. DEWAR, of the city, county, and State of New York, have invented a new and Improved Plumber's Grapple, of which the following is a specification:

Similar letters of reference indicate corresponding parts.

My invention consists in the combination of suitable jaws with rods or tubes in such a way that the jaws may be operated in pipes or other narrow places for removing obstructions, and for other purposes.

A is the fixed part of the jaw, which is attached to a pipe or rod, B. It is offset at C, and made double to receive a movable jaw, D, which is pivoted or jointed to the fixed part at a. The jaw is curved in the direction of its length; the outer end is also curved transversely, with the convex side outward. A short arm, E, is attached to the movable jaw D, to which a rod, b, is pivoted. The rod b and pipe B are held together at intervals by rings C, which admit of moving the rods in the direction of their length, but prevent their springing apart. The jaw D is provided with teeth d, and the jaw A is provided with a single spur, e.

Having thus described my invention, I claim as new and desire to secure by Letters Patent—

The combination of jaw A, attached to rod B, having offset at C, and provided with spur e, movable jaw D, having teeth d, pivoted at a, and having a short arm, E, and the pivoted rod b, the rod and pipe being held by rings c, all as shown and described.

WILLIAM HENRY DEWAR.
