[57] CLAIM

The ornamental design for a jewelry pendant or similar article, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a front elevational view of a jewelry pendant or similar article showing my new design;

FIG. 2 is a right side elevational view;

FIG. 3 is a rear elevational view;

FIG. 4 is a front elevational view of a jewelry pendant or similar article showing a second embodiment of my new design;

FIG. 5 is a front elevational view of a jewelry pendant or similar article showing a third embodiment of my new design.

FIG. 6 is a top plan view of the embodiment of FIGS. 1 through 3; and

FIG. 7 is a top plan view of the embodiments of FIGS. 4 and 5.

The broken line showing of the ends of a neck chain in FIGS. 1-3 and a loop pin in FIGS. 4 and 5 is for illustrative purposes only and forms no part of the claimed design.

The invention pertains to a novel ornamental design for a jewelry item in the form of a patch pocket with buttoned flap and is executed in hand formed silver, thus providing an irregular surface which reflects light so as to simulate in appearance the soft undulations of woven fabric. The figures show suspension of the jewelry item from a neckchain or from a loop pin. Also shown is an embellished pocket flap. Furthermore, the button for the pocket may take alternative forms, a heart shape for example, as shown. The overall proportions of my novel jewelry item may be generally as shown in FIG. 1, or relatively higher and narrower as shown in FIG. 4. Any of the described alternative design features may be utilized alone or in various combinations with the others. All embodiments form a narrow envelope with a pursed, open top into which one may insert a decoration such as a small piece of lace to simulate a miniature handkerchief, or a flower bud which is kept fresh by a small reservoir of water within the envelope.
