[57] CLAIM

The ornamental design for a combination handset and base telephone, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIGS. 1 and 2 are respectively front and rear elevational views of a combination handset and base telephone showing my new design;

FIGS. 3 and 4 are respectively left and right side elevational views; and

FIGS. 5 and 6 are respectively top and bottom plan views thereof.

The electric telephone coiled cord shown in FIGS. 1, 2 and 5 is not shown in the other figures for convenience of illustration and clarity in showing other feature elements.

The invention pertains to a novel ornamental design for a telephone which in one preferred embodiment, FIGS. 1-6, comprises a combination telephone handset and base unit with the handset in the form of a golf club such as wood having a head portion and an elongated handle portion, and the base having the form of a golfing surface with texture, color and contour suggestive of grass and including a raised portion which carries a telephone key pad. The base is further characterized by a simulated or real golf ball positioned on the upper surface thereof.
