[57] CLAIM

The ornamental design for a biocircuit, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a front elevational view of a biocircuit, showing our new design, the rear elevational view being a mirror image thereof;

FIG. 2 is a right side elevational view thereof, the left side elevational view being a mirror image;

FIG. 3 is a top plan view of the rectangular part thereof; FIG. 4 is a bottom plan view of the rectangular part thereof;

FIG. 5 is a top plan view of the cylinder part thereof; FIG. 6 is a bottom plan view of the cylinder part thereof;

FIG. 7 is a front elevational view of a first modified form of the biocircuit, showing our new design, the rear elevational view being a mirror image thereof;

FIG. 8 is a top plan view of one of the rectangular parts thereof, the bottom plan view being a mirror image;

FIG. 9 is a right side elevational view thereof, the left side elevational view being a mirror image;

FIG. 10 is a cross-sectional view taken along line 10—10 of FIG. 7;

FIG. 11 is a front elevational view of a second modified form of the biocircuit, showing our new design, the rear elevational view being a mirror image thereof, with the only difference residing in a strap on one end and on one side of the rectangular part;

FIG. 12 is a top plan view of one of the rectangular parts thereof, the bottom plan view being a mirror image; and

FIG. 13 is a right side elevational view thereof, the left side elevational view being a mirror image.

The broken line showing around the borders of the rectangular pads in FIGS. 1, 7 and 11 represent top-stitching.
