FIG. 1 is a front and upper left perspective view of an electrical switch rocker showing our new design; FIG. 2 is a top plan view of an electrical switch rocker showing the design on an enlarged scale. The broken line showing the switch case being included for purpose of illustrating environmental details only and forming no part of the claimed design; FIG. 3 is a front elevational view thereof, the rear elevation view thereof being a mirror image; FIG. 4 is a left end elevational view thereof; FIG. 5 is a right end elevational view thereof; FIG. 6 is a top plan view of an electrical switch rocker showing a second embodiment of our new design. The broken line showing the switch case for the purpose of illustrating environmental elements only and forming no part of the claimed design. The perspective and elevational views for this second embodiment are the same as those presented for the first embodiment except for the absence of the transparent lenses; FIG. 7 is a top plan view of an electrical switch rocker showing a third embodiment of our new design. The broken lines show a switch case for the purpose of illustrating environmental elements only and form no part of the claimed design. The perspective and elevational views for this third embodiment are the same as those presented for the first embodiment except for the absence of the transparent lens at the left end; and, FIG. 8 is a top plan view of an electrical switch rocker showing a fourth embodiment of our new design. The broken lines show a switch case for the purpose of illustrating environmental elements only and form no part of the claimed design. The perspective and elevational views of the fourth embodiment are the same as presented for the first embodiment except for the absence of the transparent lens at the right end.
