The bottom surface of the wall covering is plain and unornamented, and the sides have no substantial thickness. The inner dash-dot broken lines depict the boundaries of one repeat unit of the printed indicia, which repeats with uniform spacing throughout the width of the wall covering, and the outer broken line boundary indicates that the wall covering has indeterminate length and width. It is understood that each band of indicia showing the words "Harley Davidson" repeats uniformly throughout the entire length of the wall covering.
