[57] CLAIM

The ornamental design for a jumper dress with window design, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a front view of the present invention showing a window design on the front chest area;

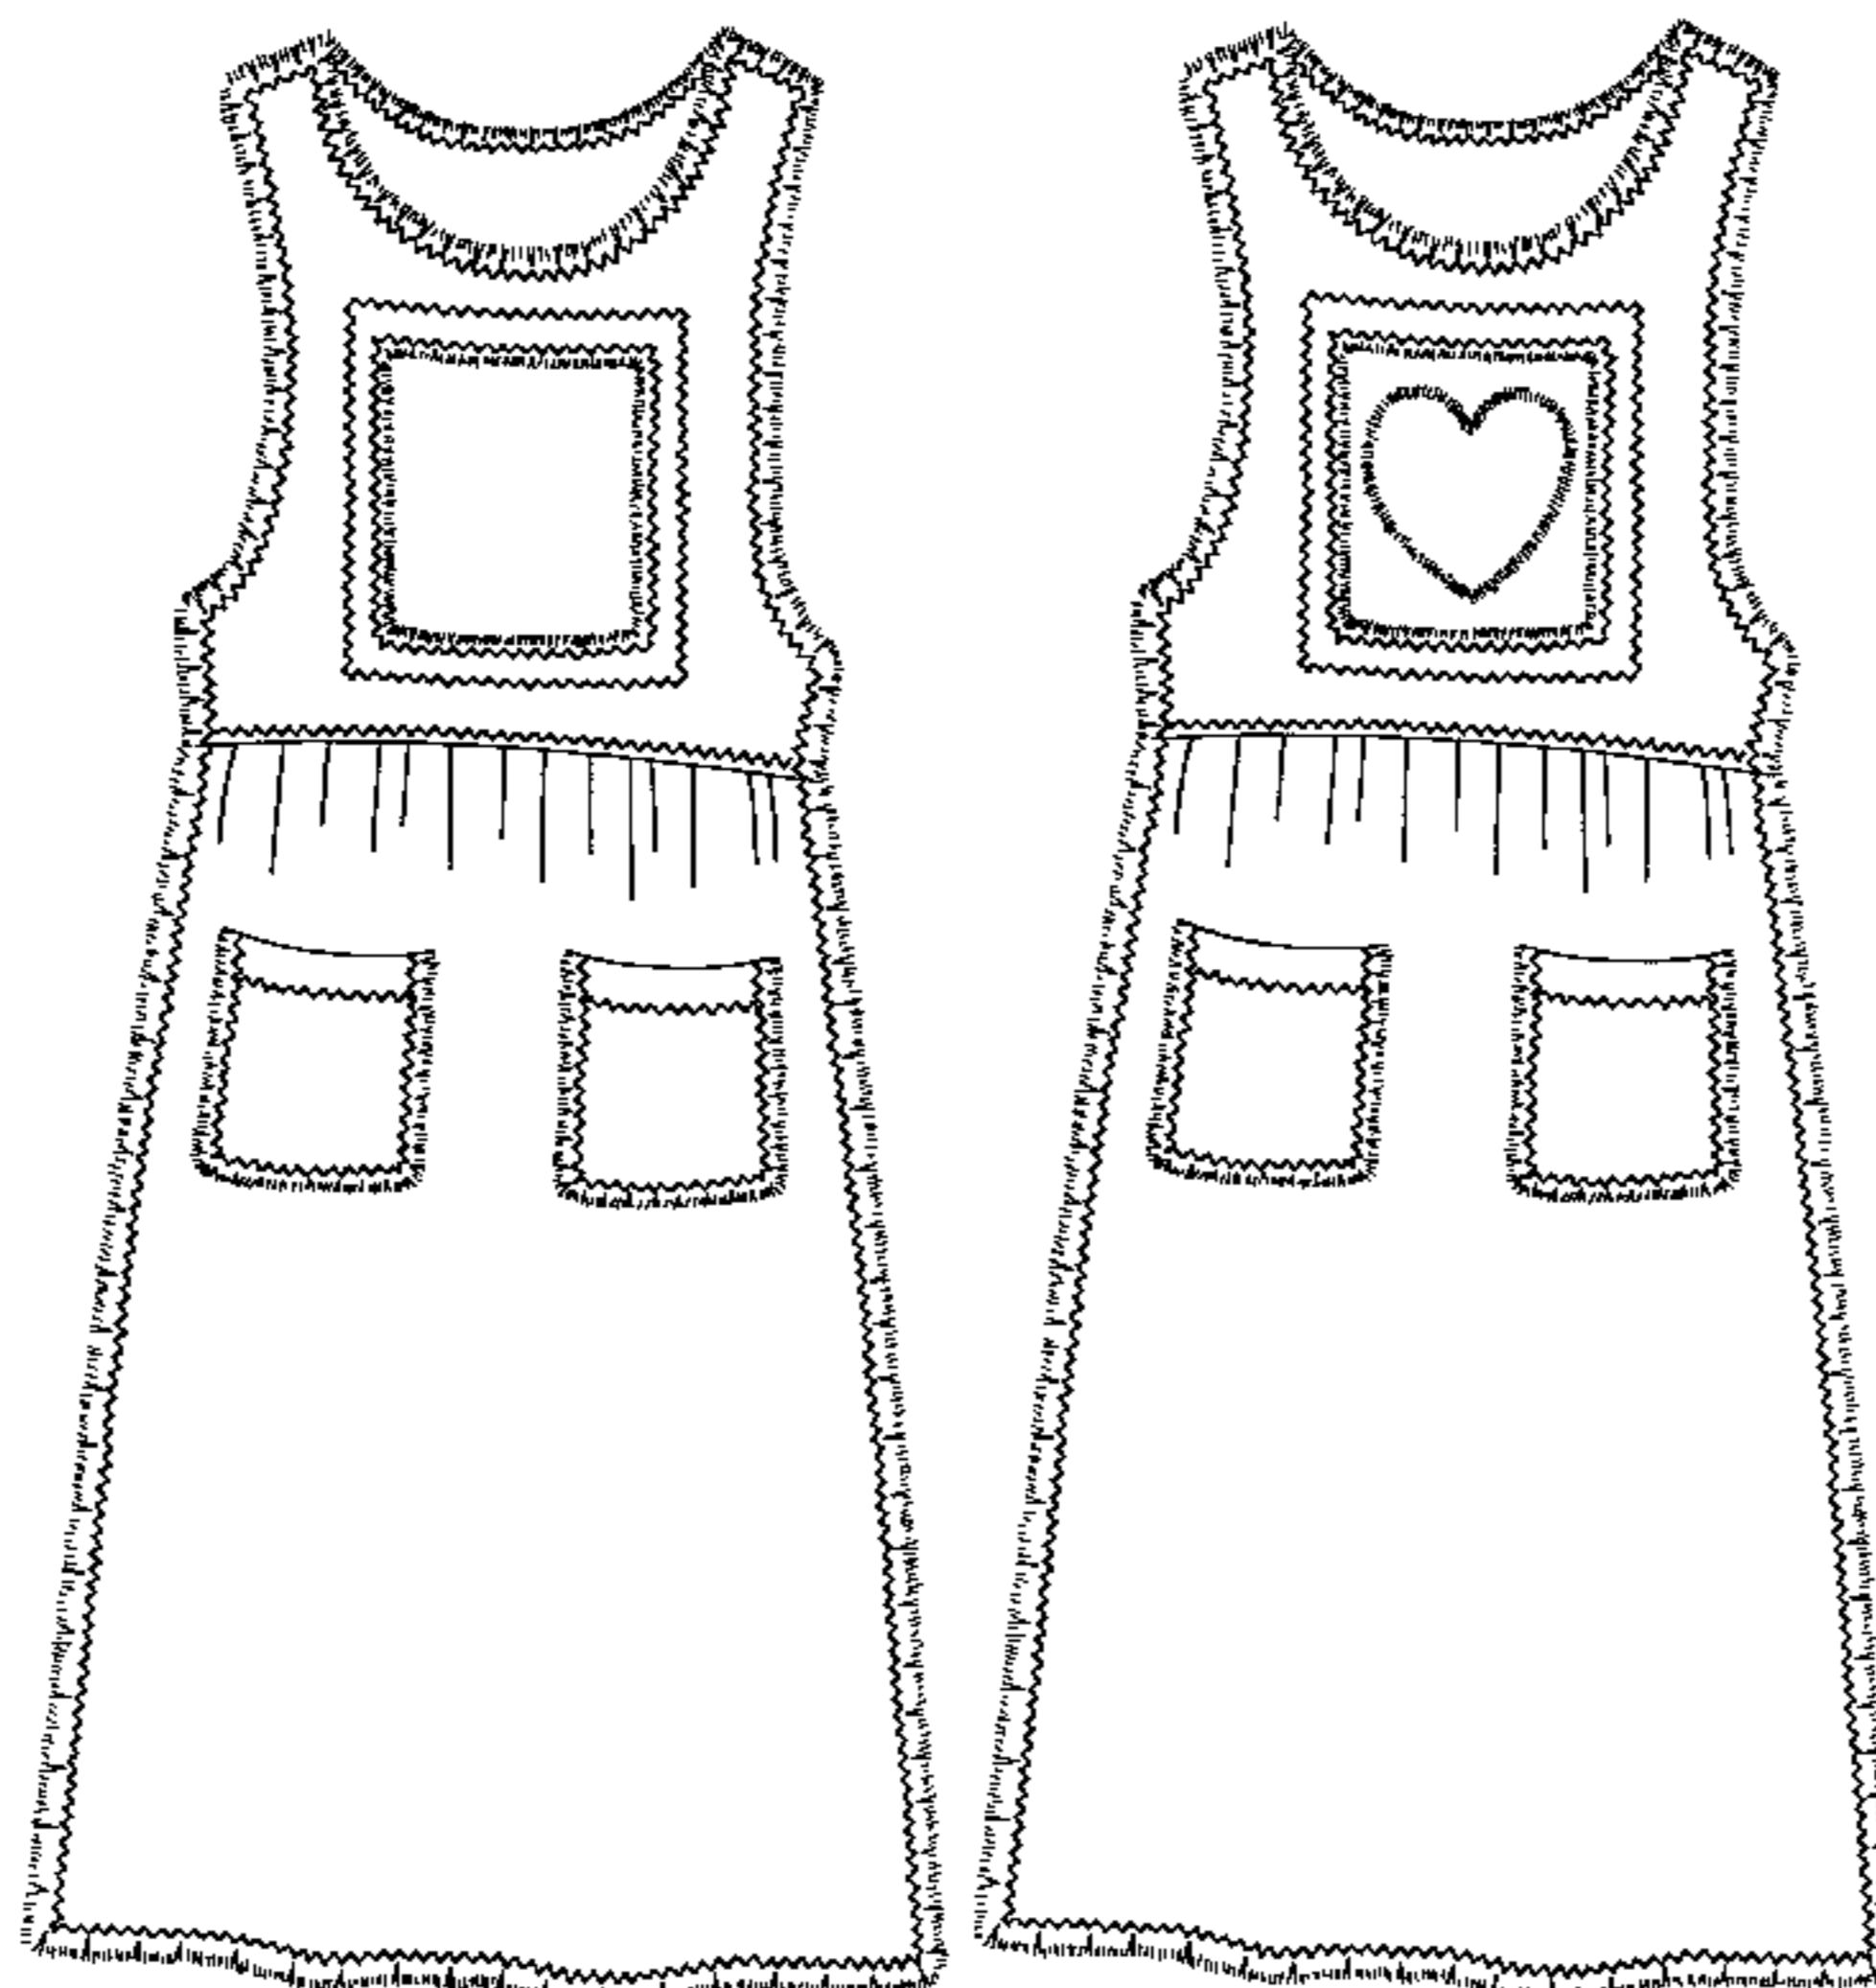

FIG. 2 is a perspective view of another embodiment of the present invention showing a window design on the front chest area, wherein the dotted lines are provided to show stitching;

FIG. 3 is a front view of the present invention showing a window design on the front chest area, wherein a panel is provided within the window. The design displayed on the panel, which is framed within the window and shown in broken lines, is included for illustration purposes only and forms no part of the claimed design;

FIG. 4 is a perspective view of another embodiment of the present invention showing a window design on the front chest area, wherein a panel is provided within the window. The design displayed on the panel, which is framed within the window and shown in broken lines, is included for illustration purposes only and forms no part of the claimed design. The dotted lines outside the window, however, are generally provided to show stitching where indicated; and,

FIG. 5 is a front view of yet another embodiment of the present invention showing a window design on the front chest area, wherein the window is in the shape of a heart. The back side of the dress does not have a window, and is, with the exception of the stitching and fringes along the edges, and the stitching and pleats that extend all the way around the waist on the back side, plain and unornamented.
