[57] CLAIM

The ornamental design for eyewear, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a front view of a first embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 2 is a rear view of the first embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 3 is a perspective view of the first embodiment of the eyewear from one side with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 4 is a perspective view of the first embodiment of the eyewear from another side with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 5 is a side view of the first embodiment of the eyewear, the view from the other side being mirror image, with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 6 is a top view of the first embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 7 is a bottom view of the first embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 8 is a front view of a second embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline. The difference between the first and second embodiments is that the first embodiment has a plurality of ornamental raised ridges on the temples, as best seen by comparing FIGS. 5 and 12.

FIG. 9 is a rear view of the second embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 10 is a perspective view of the second embodiment of the eyewear from one side with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 11 is a perspective view of the second embodiment of the eyewear from another side with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 12 is a side view of the second embodiment of the eyewear, the view from the other side being a mirror image, with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.

FIG. 13 is a top view of the second embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline; and,

FIG. 14 is a bottom view of the second embodiment of the eyewear with environmental structure shown in dotted outline.
