(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a stadium doll, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is an isometric view of the present invention;
FIG. 2 is a perspective view of the stadium doll shown in an exploded condition.

FIG. 3 is a side view of the present invention; and,

FIG. 4 is a front view of the present invention.

The broken lines in the drawings showing certain details of the doll's head, the doll's body, the objects that the doll is holding, and the stadium are for illustrative purposes only and do not form part of the claimed design. Specifically, all of the facial features of the doll, comprising the nose, eyes, eyebrows, mouth, ears, and hairline are shown in broken lines and do not form part of the claimed invention. Additionally, the features shown on the doll's torso and legs, comprising the stripes on the football jersey, the collar of the football jersey, the number on the football jersey, the stripes on the doll's pants, the stripes on the doll's socks and shoes, and the stripe circumnavigating the doll's waistline are shown in broken lines and do not form part of the claimed invention. Further, the doll's arms and those objects the doll is holding are shown in broken lines and do not form part of the claimed invention. Further still, the features of the stadium, comprising the side concourse partitions, the details on the outer and inner stadium surfaces, and the jutting out flanges attached to the base of the stadium are shown in broken lines and do not form part of the claimed invention. To the extent that any of the unclaimed features form an outer boundary of the design (as is the case with the doll's ears, the doll's arms and hands, the objects in the doll's hands and the stadium flanges), the broken lines identify that Applicant is not claiming that particular section of the outer boundary as part of the claimed design.
