(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for an infant thermometer, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a perspective view of an infant thermometer in accordance with a first embodiment of my new design, with portions of the infant thermometer being illustrated in broken lines, which broken lines are for illustrative purposes only and form no part of the infant thermometer;

FIG. 2 is a front elevational view of the infant thermometer shown in FIG. 1;

FIG. 3 is a rear elevational view of the infant thermometer thereof;

FIG. 4 is a right-side elevational view thereof;

FIG. 5 is a left-side elevational view thereof;

FIG. 6 is a top view thereof;

FIG. 7 is a bottom view thereof;

FIG. 8 is a perspective view of an infant thermometer in accordance with a second embodiment of my new design, with portions of the infant thermometer being illustrated in broken lines, which broken lines are for illustrative purposes only and form no part of the infant thermometer;

FIG. 9 is a front elevational view of the infant thermometer shown in FIG. 8;

FIG. 10 is a rear elevational view of the infant thermometer thereof;

FIG. 11 is a right-side elevational view thereof;

FIG. 13 is a perspective view of an infant thermometer in accordance with a third embodiment of my new design, with portions of the infant thermometer being illustrated in broken lines, which broken lines are for illustrative purposes only and form no part of the infant thermometer; and,

FIG. 14 is a front elevational view of the infant thermometer shown in FIG. 13, and rear elevational, right-side elevational, left-side elevational, top and bottom views of the infant thermometer shown in FIG. 13 are identical to the same views of the infant thermometer of the second embodiment shown in FIGS. 8-12.
