(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a modular component for use as a table top and bench seat, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a perspective view of a modular component for use as a table top and bench seat showing a first embodiment of my new design.

FIG. 2 is a front elevational view of the modular component of FIG. 1, the back elevational view being the mirror image thereof.

FIG. 3 is a right side elevational view of the modular component of FIG. 1, the left side elevational view being the mirror image thereof.

FIG. 4 is a top plan view of the modular component of FIG. 1.

FIG. 5 is a bottom plan view of the modular component of FIG. 1.

FIG. 6 is a perspective view of a modular component for use as a table top and bench seat showing a second embodiment of my new design.

FIG. 7 is a front elevational view of the modular component of FIG. 6, the back elevational view being the mirror image thereof.

FIG. 8 is a right side elevational view of the modular component of FIG. 6, the left side elevational view being the mirror image thereof.

FIG. 9 is a top plan view of the modular component of FIG. 6.

FIG. 10 is a bottom plan view of the modular component of FIG. 6.

FIG. 11 is a perspective view of a modular component for use as a table top and bench seat showing a third embodiment of my new design.

FIG. 12 is a front elevational view of the modular component of FIG. 11, the back elevational view being the mirror image thereof.

FIG. 13 is a right side elevational view of the modular component of FIG. 11, the left side elevational view being the mirror image thereof.

FIG. 14 is a top plan view of the modular component of FIG. 11; and,

FIG. 15 is a bottom plan view of the modular component of FIG. 11.

The modular component of FIGS. 1-5 and 6-10 is shown in the views with portions broken-away to indicate indeterminate length and width.

The modular component of FIGS. 11-15 is shown in the views with portions broken-away to indicate indeterminate length.

The broken line showing of legs in FIGS. 1-5, 6-10, and 11-15 is environmental only and forms no part of the claimed design.
