(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a cervical localization instrument, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a left side elevational view of a cervical localization instrument according to the present invention.

FIG. 2 is a right side elevational view of the cervical localization instrument of FIG. 1;

FIG. 3 is a front elevational view of the cervical localization instrument of FIG. 1;

FIG. 4 is a rear elevational view of the cervical localization instrument of FIG. 1;

FIG. 5 is a top plan view of the cervical localization instrument of FIG. 1;

FIG. 6 is a bottom plan view of the cervical localization instrument of FIG. 1; and,

FIG. 7 is a three quarter view of the cervical localization instrument of FIG. 1.

The broken lines immediately adjacent the claimed areas represent the bounds of the claimed design while all other broken lines are directed to environment and are for illustrative purposes only; the broken lines form no part of the claimed design.
