The ornamental design for a basic applicator head, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a top perspective view of a basic applicator head embodying our design;

FIG. 2 is a bottom perspective view of the basic applicator head depicted in FIG. 1;

FIG. 3 is a front elevation view of the basic applicator head depicted in FIGS. 1 and 2;

FIG. 4 is a side elevation view of the basic applicator head depicted in FIGS. 1-3, with the opposite side elevation view being a mirror image thereof;

FIG. 5 is a rear elevation view of the basic applicator head shown in FIGS. 1-4;

FIG. 6 is a top elevation view of the basic applicator head shown in FIGS. 1-5;

FIG. 7 is a bottom elevation view of the basic applicator head depicted in FIGS. 1-6;

FIG. 8 is a perspective view of the basic applicator head similar to FIG. 1, but with the material application pad being removed;

FIG. 9 is a bottom perspective view of the basic applicator head as depicted in FIG. 8;

FIG. 10 is a front elevation view of the basic applicator head as depicted in FIGS. 8 and 9;

FIG. 11 is a side elevation view of the basic applicator head as depicted in FIGS. 8-10, with the opposite side elevation view being a mirror image thereof;

FIG. 12 is a rear elevation view of the basic applicator head as shown in FIGS. 8-11;

FIG. 13 is a top elevation view of the basic applicator head as shown in FIGS. 8-12; and,

FIG. 14 is a bottom elevation view of the basic applicator head as depicted in FIGS. 8-13.

The broken lines showing the material application pad, the center recessed area on the top of the applicator body, the pole coupler, the corner spacing-guides, the hook fastener areas for connecting the pad to the bottom of the applicator body, and the other structural details along the bottom of the applicator body are for environmental purposes only and form no part of the claimed design.
