(57) CLAIM

What is claimed is the ornamental design for a computer display screen portion with a graphical user interface for managing a computer-supported to-do list, as shown and described.

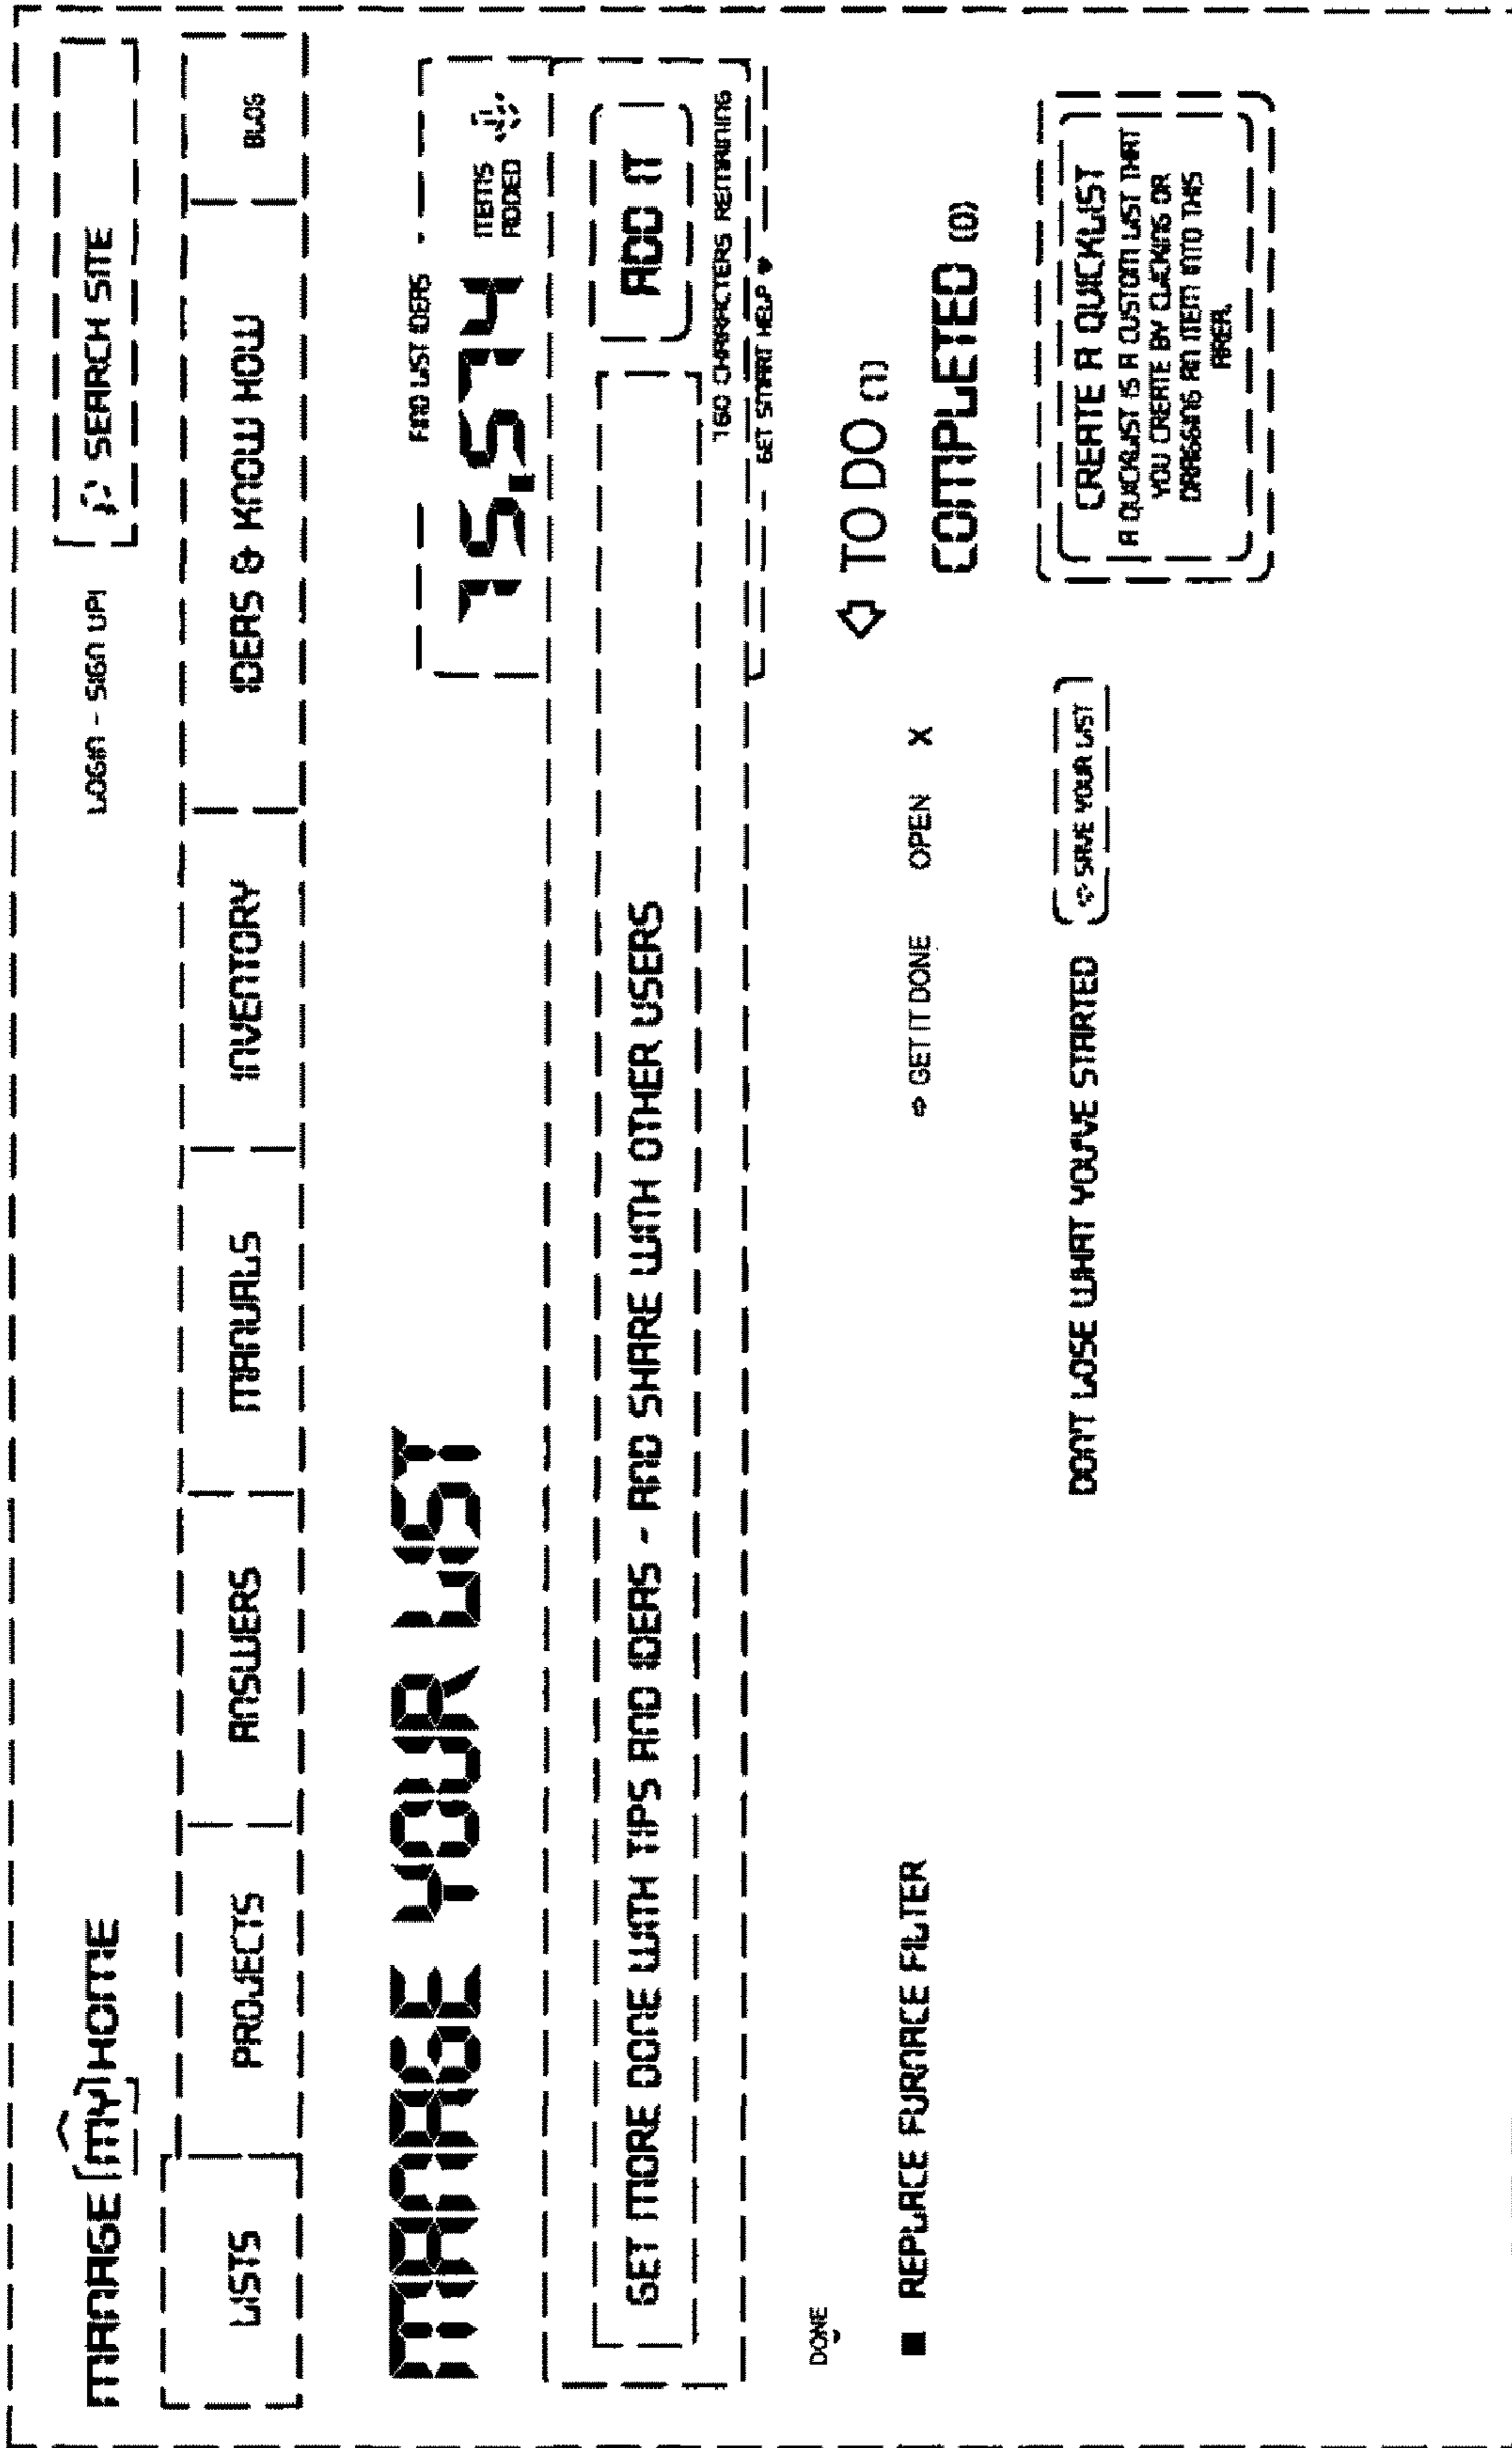

DESCRIPTION

The single FIGURE is front view of a computer display screen portion with a graphical user interface for managing a computer-supported to-do list.

The portion of the computer display screen is understood to be flush with the perimeter of the graphical user interface for managing a computer-supported to-do list. The broken-lines showing images and text within the user interface form no part of the design claimed.
