(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a satellite antenna, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a perspective view of the satellite antenna, depicted in a deployed configuration, and showing the azimuth assembly, the pod, and the reflector and the feed assembly extending from the azimuth assembly;

FIG. 2 is a perspective view of the satellite antenna, opposite to that shown in FIG. 1;

FIG. 3 is a side view of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 1; FIG. 4 is a side view of the satellite antenna, opposite to that shown in FIG. 3;

FIG. 5 is a front elevation of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 1;

FIG. 6 is a rear elevation of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 1;

FIG. 7 is a top plan view of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 1;

FIG. 8 is a bottom plan view of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 1;

FIG. 9 is a perspective view of the satellite antenna, depicted in a stowed configuration, with the pod attached to the reflector and retaining the feed assembly therebetween;

FIG. 10 is a perspective view of the satellite antenna, opposite to that shown in FIG. 9;

FIG. 11 is a side view of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 9;

FIG. 12 is a side view of the satellite antenna, opposite to that shown in FIG. 11;

FIG. 13 is a front elevation of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 9;

FIG. 14 is a rear elevation of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 9;

FIG. 15 is a top plan view of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 9; and,

FIG. 16 is a bottom plan view of the satellite antenna shown in FIG. 9.

The radio mounting holes provided in the feed assembly are depicted as small dots to indicate that they do not form part of the design. The mounting holes provided in the support arms of the reflector are depicted as small dots to indicate that they do not form part of the design. The perimeter of the recessed surface provided in the reflector is depicted using a broken line to indicate that the recessed surface does not form part of the design. Other features are also depicted using broken lines to indicate that they do not form part of the design.
