(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a trigger guard assembly, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a perspective view of our new design installed on a handgun for a right-handed shooter;
 FIG. 2 is a perspective view of our new design installed on a handgun for a left-handed shooter;
 FIG. 3 is a front view of a guard portion of our new design, with an arm portion removed;
 FIG. 4 is a back view of the guard portion;
 FIG. 5 is a top view of the guard portion;
 FIG. 6 is a bottom view of the guard portion;
 FIG. 7 is a right side view of the guard portion;
 FIG. 8 is a left side view of the guard portion;
 FIG. 9 is a front, cross-sectional view of the guard portion taken along sectional line 9-9 in FIG. 5;
 FIG. 10 is a back, cross-sectional view thereof taken along sectional line 10-10 in FIG. 6;
 FIG. 11 is a perspective view of an arm portion shown in FIG. 1 separated from the guard portion;
 FIG. 12 is a perspective view of an arm portion shown in FIG. 2 separated from the guard portion;
 FIG. 13 is left side view of the arm portion;
 FIG. 14 is a right side view of the arm portion;
 FIG. 15 is a front view of the arm portion;
 FIG. 16 is a back view of the arm portion;
 FIG. 17 is a top view of the arm portion; and,
 FIG. 18 is a bottom view of the arm portion.

Any broken lines shown in FIGS. 1-18 are for illustrative purposes only and, along with the handgun, form no part of the claimed design. Any contour lines are provided merely to illustrate contours of the material. Any cross hatching is used simply to indicate locations from where portions of material have been cut away to show cross-sectional views. Such cross hatching does not indicate any specific material type, and forms no part of the claimed design.
