(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a tile, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a perspective view of my design of a tile showing two adjacent sides, one with an indentation and one with a protrusion.

FIG. 2 is another perspective view of my design of a tile.

FIG. 3 is a front view of my design of a tile as shown in FIG. 1, the back view being identical to the front view.

FIG. 4 is a top view of my design of a tile as shown in FIG. 1.

FIG. 5 is bottom view of my design of a tile as shown in FIG. 1.

FIG. 6 is a right side view of my design of a tile as shown in FIG. 1.

FIG. 7 is a left side view of my design of a tile as shown in FIG. 1; and,

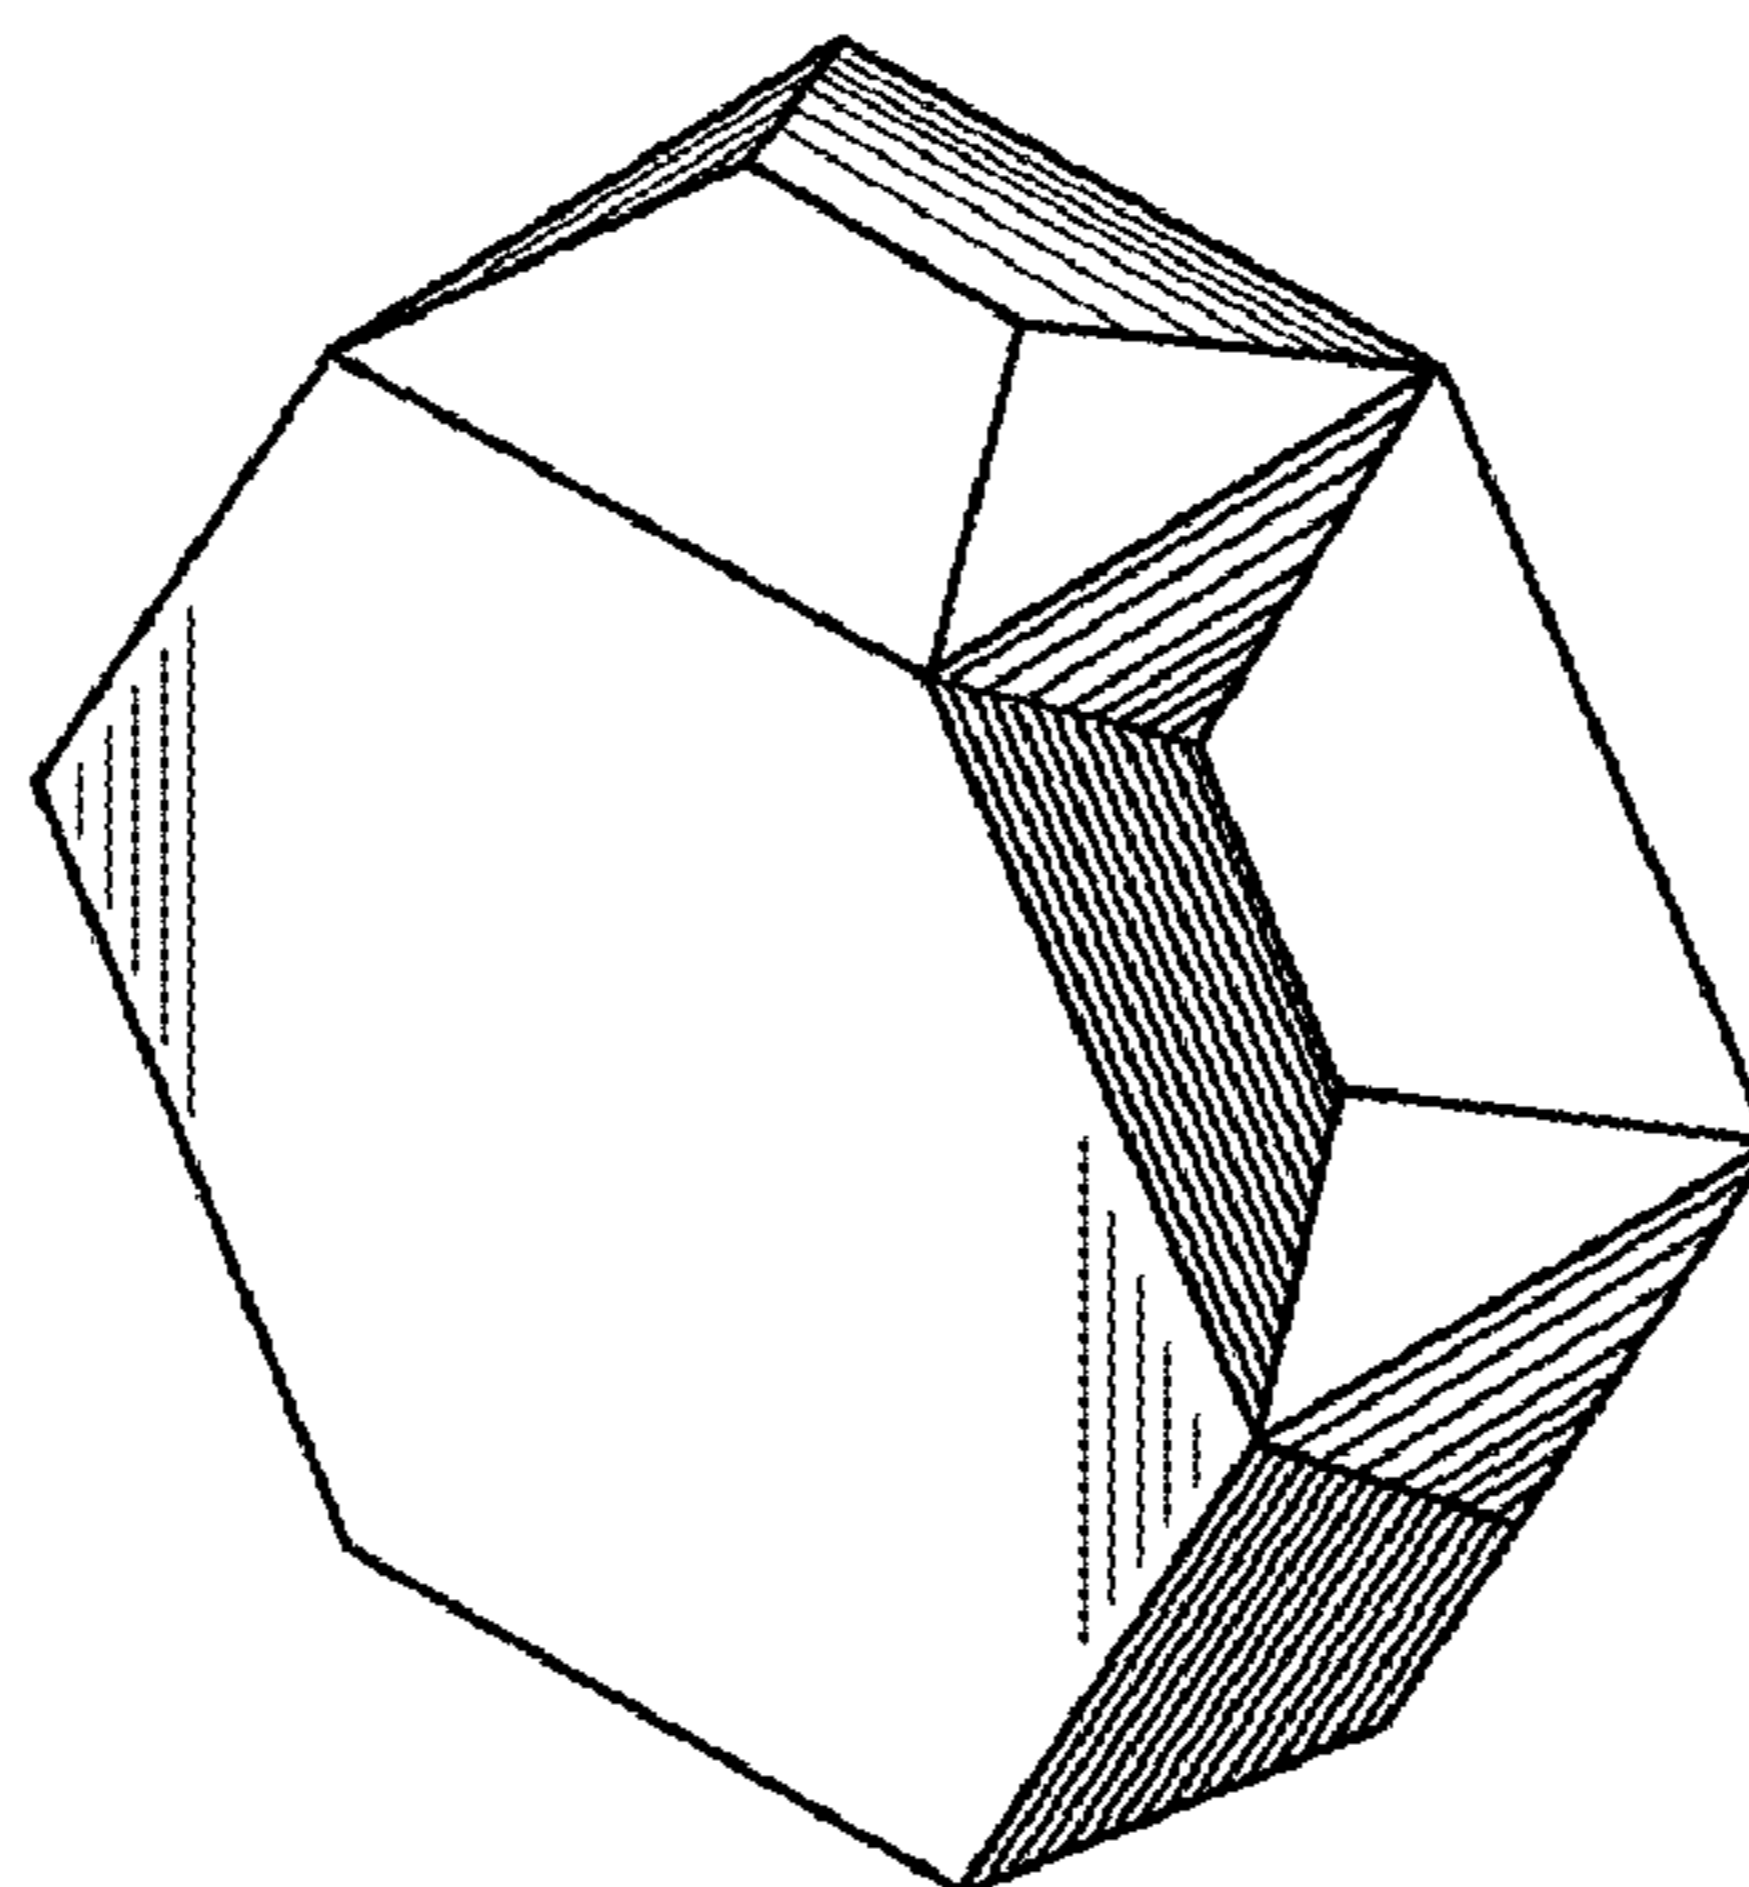

FIG. 8 is an environmental perspective view of my design of a tile as shown in FIG. 1.

The broken lines in the figures represent environmental structure only and form no part of the claimed design.

There is shown a hexagonal shaped tile with a front face, a back face, and six sides. The six sides alternate between an indentation and a protrusion, that is, protrusion side, indentation side, protrusion side, indentation side, protrusion side, and indentation side.

The intended use is armor tile to protect personnel and equipment.
