(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a textured zinc building panel, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a top plan view of a textured zinc building panel according to my new design, with representative Zones 1, 2 and 3 being separately identified by broken lines therein which do not form a part of the claimed design.

FIG. 2 is an enlarged perspective view of Zone 1 of a textured building panel.

FIG. 3 is an enlarged perspective view of Zone 2 of a textured building panel; and,

FIG. 4 is an enlarged perspective view of Zone 3 of a textured building panel.

The novelty and distinctiveness of the claimed design resides in the pattern and/or ornamentation of the illustrated textured zinc building panel in the form of a sheet, slate or coil sheet, in which the color of the element has the shades of light gray and almost white, and whose textured surface has asperities of varying sizes to give a rough and heterogeneous effect.
