FIG. 18

The figure shows a grid of 20 rows and 4 columns. The grid is defined by solid lines. The bottom border of the grid is a dashed line. The cells within the grid are mostly empty, but some contain small vertical lines or patterns. Specifically, the first column has a vertical line in the first row, and the second column has a vertical line in the second row. The third column has a vertical line in the third row, and the fourth column has a vertical line in the fourth row. The grid is otherwise empty.
