(57) CLAIM

The ornamental design for a computer with a transitional graphical user interface, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a front view of the computer with a transitional graphical user interface showing a first image in a sequence of a first embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 2 is a front view showing a second image in the sequence of the first embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 3 is a front view showing a third image in the sequence of the first embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 4 is a front view showing a fourth image in the sequence of the first embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 5 is a front view showing a fifth image in the sequence of the first embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 6 is a front view of the computer with a transitional graphical user interface showing a first image in a sequence of a second embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 7 is a front view showing a second image in the sequence of the second embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 8 is a front view showing a third image in the sequence of the second embodiment of my invention;

FIG. 9 is a front view showing a fourth image in the sequence of the second embodiment of my invention; and,

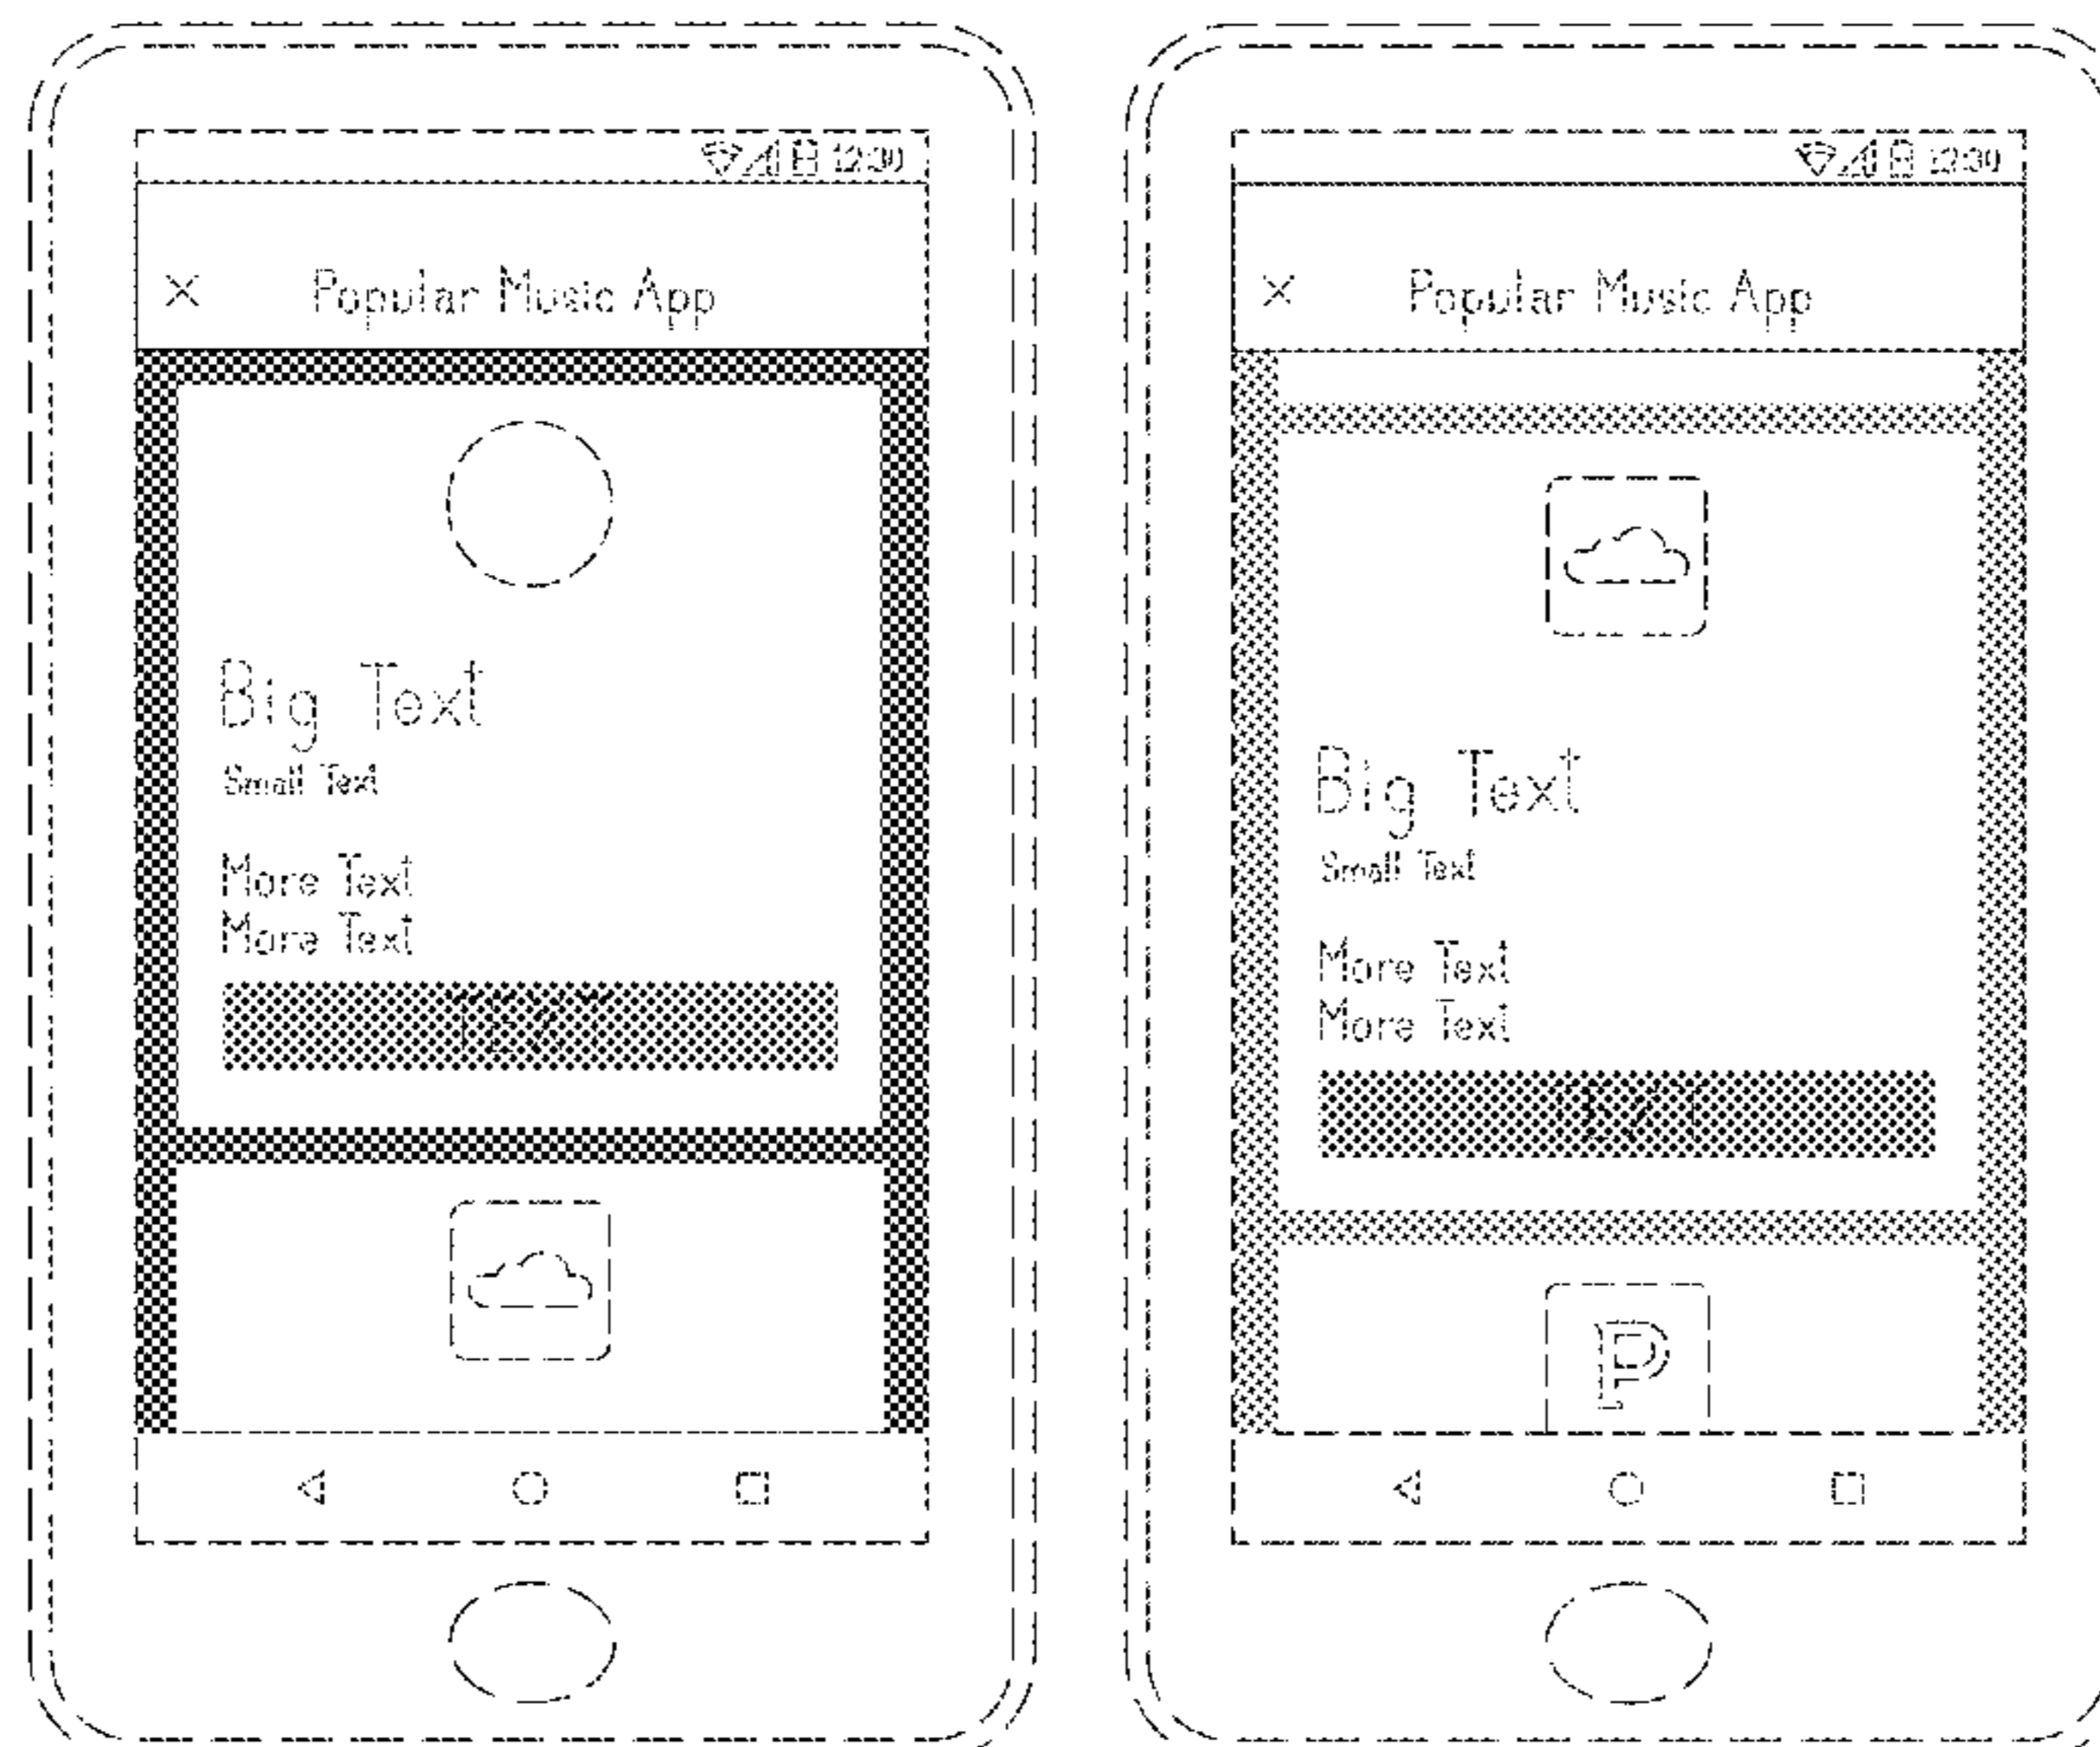

FIG. 10 is a front view showing a fifth image in the sequence of the second embodiment of my invention.

The subject matter in this patent includes a process or period in which an image changes into another image. This process or period forms no part of the claimed design.

The shading shows a contrast in appearance.

The outermost broken line showing of a portion of a computer and the inner broken line rectangle showing of a display screen of the computer, as well as the broken line showing features of the graphical user interface (including text, icons, and toolbars), are included for the purpose of illustrating environmental structure and form no part of the claimed design.
