(57) CLAIM

What is claimed is the ornamental design for a perforated decking, as shown and described.

DESCRIPTION

FIG. 1 is a front top perspective view showing a first embodiment of the perforated decking of Applicants' invention.

FIG. 2 is a rear bottom perspective view of the perforated decking of FIG. 1.

FIG. 3 is a top plan view of the perforated decking of FIG. 1.

FIG. 4 is a bottom plan view of the perforated decking of FIG. 1.

FIG. 5 is a front elevation view of the perforated decking of FIG. 1, the rear elevation view being an identical mirror image thereto.

FIG. 6 is a right side elevation of the perforated decking of FIG. 1, the left side elevation view being an identical mirror image thereto.

FIG. 7 is an enlarged top plan view of a portion of the upper surface the perforated decking as indicated in the dashed circle of FIG. 3, to more clearly show the pattern of perforations. The evenly spaced dashed line circles depict the limits of the enlarged views and form no part of the claimed design.

FIG. 8 is a front top perspective view showing a second embodiment of the perforated decking of Applicants' invention.

FIG. 9 is a rear bottom perspective view of the perforated decking of FIG. 8.

FIG. 10 is a top plan view of the perforated decking of FIG. 8.

FIG. 11 is a bottom plan view of the perforated decking of FIG. 8.

FIG. 12 is a front elevation view of the perforated decking of FIG. 8, the rear elevation view being an identical mirror image thereto.

FIG. 13 is a right side elevation of the perforated decking of FIG. 8, the left side elevation view being an identical mirror image thereto; and,

FIG. 14 is an enlarged top plan view of a portion of the upper surface the perforated decking as indicated in the dashed circle of FIG. 10, to more clearly show the pattern of perforations. The evenly spaced dashed line circles depict the limits of the enlarged views and form no part of the claimed design.
